ACCESS TO GLOBAL MEDICAL EXPERTISE WITHIN 72 HOURS

Nidus empowers you to make an informed decision about your brain and spine health.
Why Nidus

MAKING INFORMED DECISIONS TOGETHER

Nidus connects doctors and their patients who may require surgery or other complex procedures with a global network of expertise and quality research to achieve the best health outcomes.

Comprised of a panel of medical specialists who review each patient case and offer opinions individually, Nidus analyzes data received from the panel through an algorithm, and presents a final, customized summary in an easy-to-read format. Together, you and your doctor can review the summary and make an informed decision about the best course of treatment.

Founded by a team of medical researchers and surgeons dedicated to finding optimal treatment strategies, the Nidus concept was born after hearing from patients who wished to obtain opinions from a wide range of leading medical experts. Today, Nidus enables doctors to provide synthesized, global expertise to their patients on a range of brain and spine health conditions—all within 72 hours.

“Nidus has been extremely helpful to my practice as an internist. Recently, I had a complicated patient with ongoing debilitating low back pain who had previously undergone multiple lumbar spine surgeries. After a consultation with the Nidus team of experts, a cohesive surgical plan was agreed upon. Six weeks after his surgery, the patient was able to return to his demanding schedule traveling on intercontinental flights 3 times/month. The Nidus reviews are easy to read and are concise.”

How Nidus Works

WORKING WITH YOUR CARE TEAM

1 | After meeting with your doctor to discuss the initial diagnosis and available options, visit nidusai.com to complete a brief questionnaire summarizing your symptoms and quality of life.

2 | Upon completing the online questionnaire, you will be contacted by a Nidus team member to submit any diagnostic imaging you may have, as well as complete payment.

3 | Once all your information is reviewed and your imaging analyzed, a Nidus team member will forward your completed case to the Nidus panel of experts.

4 | Within 72 hours of the case being submitted to the panel, your doctor will be notified that the results are ready. You and your doctor will then be able to review the personalized feedback together and make an informed decision about your treatment plan.

You will be granted full access to the results of your case. As a Nidus client, we invite you to complete additional questionnaires in order to track your health improvements and quality of life, and inform our research for additional patient cases.

NOTES

Results of Nidus’ review do not eliminate the possibility that other treatment options may be effective, nor does Nidus guarantee that the recommended therapy will cure you, alleviate pain or discomfort, or progression of your medical condition. Nidus provides access to global experts to obtain additional advice for your doctor to consider in order to help you make informed decisions, but Nidus does not endorse, warrant, sanction, qualify, certify, or otherwise validate any opinion or advice provided by any participating doctor or healthcare professional.

“I live in New York and have access to many great hospitals. But when I heard about the chance to get the Nidus panel of experts to look at my case, I was both impressed and reassured. Indeed, Nidus is a brilliant and cost-effective concept. I was very satisfied with the quality of my Nidus review, which reinforced the course of action advocated for by my doctor.”

“I had a brain hemorrhage in Pakistan and there was extreme uncertainty about what treatment I had to have. My journey to a cure was helped by a Nidus expert panel review, which narrowed the selection of procedures and I was directed to a top class surgeon in Chicago, Dr. Hanjani, who had special training in AVM treatment and resection. I have since returned to the U. of Pennsylvania to complete my studies in bioengineering. None of this would have been possible without the extremely helpful and informative platform that the Nidus expert review provided us with.”
