

Planting Your New Seeds

Creative spaces to plant and grow your new seeds

Grade Levels: ALL

Standard: 1.6.P Discuss how reducing, recycling, and reusing products make for a healthier environment.

When many of us image what a garden might look like, we image an outdoor field with tons of space, access to light, and ideal temperatures. Well, that is not always the case. Fortunately, you can grow a garden almost anywhere, and we are here to share with you some of the creative and exciting ways you can start your very own gardens whether you live in an apartment, a house, or a RV. In our past newsletters and social media pages, we have shared a few creative ideas such as sprouting seeds in eggshells or creating a hanging garden out of plastic bottles, so feel free to use this article as a quick guide to refresh your memory on some creative methods that may work for you and your family.

Pallet Garden

In an Egg

Kiddie Pool

Tin Cans

Old Shoes

Hanging Plastic Bottles or Plastic Bags

Takeout Food Containers

Hanging Colander (hang from a balcony or tree)

More Takeout Food Containers

Did We Mention Takeout Food Containers?

Plastic Water Jugs

Creative ways to label your plants:

- Painting rocks
- Writing on Popsicle sticks
- Painting or drawing on old cooking spoons/ utensils

