Introduction

Corona virus which is also referred to as COVID – 19 has been declared a global pandemic by the World Health Organization (WHO). Kenya reported its first confirmed case on March 13, 2020. The devastating impact of COVID-19 has become a rapidly evolving crisis that has brought feelings of anxiety, apprehension and fear. Critical elements of our daily lives are being thrown into uncertainty concerning our health, employment, financial security, recreational activities, as well as our ability to gather as worshiping communities. Yet, coronavirus is not the first epidemic in the history of humanity.

Although the disease has disrupted our lives, there is hope in overcoming it as there is adequate information on the virus; how it is transmitted and what we should do to stop its spread. Furthermore, measures have been put in place by the government which will help us overcome the epidemic. However, the outbreak has prompted an upsurge of misinformation, rumors, stigma and virus-shaming.

In view of these difficulties, we as religious leaders wish to bring forward a message of hope and promise you our prayers even as we share the following messages.
• COVID-19 disease is caused by corona virus and affects people of all races, age, gender and ethnicity

• Symptoms appear 2-14 days of exposure and can be similar to cold or flu; severity of illness varies in different people. 80% of the patients get mild disease, 15% get severe disease and 5% get critical illness

• If an infected person neglects to seek medical attention on time, it may lead to death

• COVID-19 is spread through the eyes, nose and mouth via droplets produced on coughing or sneezing or by touching your face with your contaminated hand.

• Close contact of less than 1 meter with an infected person who is coughing or sneezing can expose you to the virus

• Touching contaminated surfaces, objects or items of personal use with your hands can get you exposed

• Coronavirus can survive on surfaces and objects for more than 8-10 hours

• Covid-19 can be more severe in the elderly people and those who have chronic illnesses like diabetes, high blood pressure, respiratory illnesses and others

• You are suspected to have COVID-19 if you have fever, cough, shortness of breath and have travelled to a coronavirus infected area or have come into contact with an infected person or have visited a facility where patients infected with coronavirus are being taken care of

• It can only be tested in specialized laboratories equipped to handle highly infectious diseases

• A person infected with COVID-19 can recover completely when they receive appropriate medical treatment

• COVID-19 cannot be passed on through food

• Lack of correct information on COVID-19 fuels fear, panic and anxiety
COVID-19 can be prevented by observing simple guidelines as issued by the Ministry of Health:

- Wash hands regularly with soap and running water for minimum 20 seconds especially after visiting a public place or coughing, sneezing or blowing your nose.
- If water and soap is not available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer.
- Avoid touching your mouth, nose, eyes with your hands.
- Cough or sneeze into a disposable tissue or on a flexed elbow. Throw the tissue into a litter bin as soon as possible.
- Wear a 3 layered mask when out in public places. Wash your hands with soap and running water before wearing the mask, before removing it, and after removing it. Dispose the used mask in the bin.
- Avoid sharing personal household items such as towels.
- The COVID-19 is highly infectious hence the need for physical distance. Avoid shaking hands, hugging, kissing and other forms of close body contact.
- Maintain a physical distance of at least one metre from anyone coughing or sneezing.
- Often clean and disinfect all commonly touched surfaces such as tables, door handles, phones, toilets, keyboards, light switches.
- You can make disinfectant for cleaning purposes at home by mixing one part jik to 6 parts water.
- Staying at home with loved ones can control the spread of Coronavirus and provides an opportunity to build/rebuild relations with our family members.
- We do need to pray, but our voices are heard by God whether we are praying alone in our houses or anywhere else.
- Religious and other social gatherings have been suspended to contain the spread of the virus.
- Taking care of each other is important as is taking care of ourselves.
- Your prayers, compassion and empathy for those quarantined or in isolation makes a difference as they are lonely and scared.
- It is normal to feel sad, stressed, confused, scared or angry during a crisis. Talking to people you trust such as friends and family can help.
• COVID-19 knows no age, gender, class, race, social or political class, religion or education status. Everyone is at risk of getting infected

• People with existing health conditions and the elderly are likely to develop severe COVID-19 illness due to reduced immunity

• COVID-19 is not a death sentence. People who have tested positive for COVID-19 have been treated and recovered

• People who have recovered from COVID illness should not be labelled, stereotyped or discriminated against. Such treatment negatively affects them and their families.

• Stigma around covid-19 may force people who have symptoms similar to the disease to hide, hence they will not adopt the appropriate health seeking behavioral for early intervention

• We should celebrate those that have completed quarantine, and those that have recovered from the disease and welcome them back to the community

• People who are well informed about the disease will show empathy to others and keep themselves and their loved ones safe

• COVID-19 may have come from animals, but pets are not likely to be part of the transmission chain.

• Garlic is considered a healthy food with some antimicrobial properties – but there are no evidences to indicate it can help anyone fight off COVID-19

• There is yet no conclusive evidence that the use of Chloroquine and/or Hydroxychloroquine prevents or cures COVID-19

• Misuse of these medicines can lead to adverse effects affecting the heart or even lead to irreversible blindness

• COVID-19 Hot Lines 0800721316 (Toll Free) , 0729471414, 0732353535

• Survivors of Sexual and Gender Based Violence should immediately seek medical care at the nearest hospital within 72 hours. They should not wash themselves or change their clothing as this will erase crucial evidence. The matter should also be reported to the relevant authorities irrespective of who the perpetrator/s is/are.
• Pray for people who are in isolation or in self-quarantine as they are lonely and going through a difficult period

• Encourage the congregation to accept back to the community those that have left isolation or self – quarantine

• Do not stigmatize people who have recovered from COVID – 19

• Assure congregants that directives issued by the government in response to the corona virus are for the best interest of all the people.

• Discourage all social gatherings including churches, mosques, temples, weddings and burials. Where possible, use social media/virtual meetings to maintain your devotion and worship

• Stay home with your loved ones and maintain a healthy lifestyle -including healthy diet (plenty of fruits and vitamin C), sleep and exercise.

• Encourage congregants to avoid risky behavior that could expose them to HIV and other STI infections

• Encourage those with underlying conditions such as HIV, diabetes, high blood pressure, cancer to continue adherence to treatment

• Reassure children as they may be anxious, and provide them with correct information

• Create a warm, happy and safe environment for family members to tide them over this trying time.

• Encourage congregants to pray and worship from their homes to prevent exposure to the virus

• Encourage congregants to take the precautions which are being recommended by health experts against coronavirus, and other precautions and practices that keep the body healthy.

• Remind congregants that it pleases God when we protect lives. Regulations put in place by the government to do this are good in the sight of God.

• Encourage congregants to self-quarantine if they have come into contact with a person who has tested positive for COVID-19. (Self - quarantine means not sharing utensils, clothes, towels and bathrooms even with family members; disinfect when one cannot avoid sharing)

• Encourage congregants to seek medical attention if having fever, cough or shortness of breath
• Address stigma: Stigma around COVID-19 leads to violence and shaming of those who test positive or are suspected to be infected

• Encourage families and individuals to stock some dry foods and other essentials

• Encourage the congregation to share their love with each other in this season, including supporting the less fortunate with food and other essentials.

• Establish an online counselling support for congregants who may be distressed due to illness, loss of income, violence in homes

• Only share authenticated messages to avoid causing panic and fear. This will challenge the myths and misconceptions

• Avoid manipulation of bodies for burial rites to reduce the risk of exposure to COVID – 19

• Encourage burial of the dead immediately or within a short period

• Only a maximum of 15 persons should be in a burial so as to maintain physical distance and reduce exposure to or further spread of COVID-19

Therefore, be thou not hopeless under any circumstances, but rather be firm in thy hope (Selections from the Writings of ‘Abdu’l-Bahá, p. 205).

- Therefore strive that your actions day by day may be beautiful prayers. Turn towards God, and seek always to do that which is right and noble. - Banished and faithful friend! Quench the thirst of heedlessness with the sanctified waters of My grace, and chase the gloom of remoteness through the morning-light of My Divine presence. Clothe thyself with the essence of righteousness, and let thine heart be afraid of none except God. Obstruct not the luminous spring of thy soul with the thorns and brambles of vain and inordinate affections, and impede not the flow of the living waters that stream from the fountain of thine heart. Set all thy hope in God, and cleave tenaciously to His unfailing mercy. Who else but Him can enrich the destitute, and deliver the fallen from his abasement? Baha’i References On Taking Care Of Each Other

- As regards any possible distinctions, the utmost that Bahá’u’lláh says is that conditions among men vary, that some, for instance, are defective. Therefore, such souls must be educated in order that they may be brought to the degree of perfection. Some are sick and ailing; they must be treated and cared for until they are healed. Some are asleep; they need to be awakened. Some are immature as children; they should be helped to attain maturity. But all must be loved and cherished. The child must not be disliked simply because it is a child. Nay, rather, it should be patiently educated. The sick one must not be avoided nor slighted merely because he is ailing. Nay, rather, he must be regarded with sympathy and affection and treated until he is healed. The soul that is asleep must not be looked upon with contempt but awakened and led into the light. (The Promulgation of Universal Peace)

If ye will trust in the Word of God and be strong; if ye will follow the precepts of Bahá’u’lláh to tend the sick, raise the fallen, care for the poor and needy, give shelter to the destitute, protect the oppressed, comfort the sorrowful and love the world of humanity with all your hearts, then I say unto you that erelong this meeting-place will see a wonderful harvest. Day by day each member will advance and become more and more spiritual. But ye must have a firm foundation and your aims and ambitions must be clearly understood by each member. (Paris Talks)
