PRACTICING THE WAY OF JESUS

And he said to them, “Take care, and be
on your guard
against all
covetousness, for
one’s life does not consist in the abundance of one’s possessions”.

“When we are truly in this interior simplicity our whole appearance is franker, more natural. This true simplicity . . . makes us conscious of a certain openness, gentleness, innocence, gaiety and serenity, which is charming when we see it near to and continually, with pure eyes. O, how amiable this simplicity is! Who will give it to me? I leave all for this. It is the Pearl of the Gospel”.

Francois Fenelon

A person with a backpack is walking away from the camera on a city street. The background shows buildings and a street with a few cars. The image is dimly lit, with a dark overlay.

“Simplicity is freedom. Duplicity is bondage. Simplicity brings joy and balance. Duplicity brings anxiety and fear”.

Richard Foster
