Now hiring - Performance Auditors

Join our team and make a difference by helping to improve government policies and programs. Our Phoenix office is hiring performance auditors. If you are naturally inquisitive, possess strong research and analysis skills, and write in a clear, concise style, you might be a perfect fit!

Performance auditors look at State agencies and programs. Working in a mutually respectful team environment, you will learn about State agencies to understand their roles and responsibilities, evaluate how well they perform their responsibilities, research and identify best practices, and provide objective recommendations to improve their operations. You'll gather information, conduct interviews, help identify areas of inquiry, and perform audit procedures to obtain evidence, prepare well-documented working papers, and formulate findings and appropriate recommendations in compliance with government auditing standards. You'll also draft written audit findings and orally communicate work results with clarity and completeness.

Who are we looking for?
Performance Auditors must possess a bachelor’s degree in the social sciences or humanities, which emphasizes analytical skills, research, writing, and data organization, AND at least 1 year of experience in performance, financial, or internal auditing, program evaluation, management or policy analysis, or related experience, with a minimum 3.0 GPA.
OR
A master’s degree in the social sciences, humanities, or other field such as, history, journalism, or public administration that emphasizes analytical skills, research, writing, and data organization.

Starting salary:
Performance Auditor I: $50,000-$53,000
Performance Auditor II: $53,800-$56,800

Benefits:
- Affordable medical, dental, and vision options.
- 10 paid holidays per year.
- Generous paid sick and vacation leave.
- Short- and long-term disability.
- Workday schedule flexibility.
- Telecommuting options.
- Employee wellness program.
- Educational discounts.
- Employer-provided life insurance.
- Supplemental insurance programs.
- A 100% employer match, defined benefit retirement program, which provides a guaranteed lifetime benefit.
