Renewable energy sources

ANEV – Italian Wind Energy Association

The main activity within our organization where we would like to include the participant is mapping the island potentials in Croatia and creating a database of projects and stakeholders. Although the participant will be based on the island of Solta, working online will allow her/him to scan also the other islands and communicate with the main stakeholders. Participant will cooperate with other colleagues in creating the online survey and dissemination of it to several islands.

Mapping local opportunities and stakeholders in the energy field of interest, creating database and reporting is an expected outcome. Through communication with different stakeholders (municipalities, cities, citizens, tourism sector,...) and data collecting we hope to get a wider picture of current state of energy development on Croatian islands. After collecting all data, which are necessary to get a wider picture, we would define all measures through which we could advise and help to start a process of energy transition.
