Women and Leadership in Humanitarian Action Dialogue Series

Dialogue 1:
Solutions for Supporting Local Women Responders in Humanitarian Action

Overview
IFRC, UN Women and UN OCHA are organizing a series of dialogues to amplify institutional commitments to women’s leadership and gender-transformative localization, building on ongoing initiatives under the Grand Bargain, the World Humanitarian Summit and beyond. The series will create and maintain momentum for advancing the agenda of women’s empowerment and leadership in the humanitarian sector, including through dialogue with global, regional, and local women’s organizations and networks. The dialogues will serve as a venue for participants to exchange information on initiatives and approaches that advance diversity and inclusion; tackle the complex issues faced by women and break systemic barriers to women’s leadership in the humanitarian sector; and promote the visibility of women leaders’ contributions in humanitarian and protracted crisis contexts.
